Top Reasons to Attend Peninsula College

- Live in a beautiful place, with mountains, rainforests and ocean just minutes away.
- Relax in an outdoor recreational paradise where you can surf, snowboard, ski, hike, camp, kayak, fish, and more.
- Study in several new and unique advanced learning environments, including an Arts and Humanities building, Library, Science & Tech and a Native American Longhouse.
- Get lots of one-to-one attention, with a student/faculty ratio of only 19:1. All our instructors have M.A.’s or Ph.D.’s.
- Pay some of the lowest tuition costs in the Northwest and still get a great education. And living costs are lower on the Peninsula, too!
- Agree with 91% of our students that PC is an exciting place to be, with lots of cultural activities including jazz and rock concerts, art exhibitions, dances, theater performances, festivals and visiting scholars.
- Thrive in a city small enough to be known for its safe, friendly, small-town environment, but big enough to have a symphony, an art center, a marine science center, a national park headquarters and more.
- Learn from PC’s extraordinary instructors that 97% of our students say are approachable, helpful and supportive.
- Earn degree transfers to almost anywhere you want to go.
- Discover what PC students already know: It’s good to be a Pirate!

For more information about the college visit our website at www.pencol.edu.
Women’s Soccer

Women’s Soccer Head Coach Kanyon Anderson

Coach Kanyon Anderson was named the first women’s soccer coach at Peninsula College when the program began in 2010. Previously, he was the assistant men’s coach for five years helping to build the program into the perennial powerhouse it is today. He is a graduate of Western Washington University (BA – English Literature) and Eastern Washington University (MA – Rhetoric and Composition). He also played in the NWAC for Everett Community College before transferring to Eastern Washington University. Coach Anderson has been recognized as the West Region Coach of the Year in 2011 and 2012 and earned NWAC Coach of the Year in 2011. In addition to coaching soccer, he is a member of the Peninsula College English faculty. He spends his free time with his wife and two children, exploring the natural wonders of the Olympic Peninsula. For more information about Women’s Soccer contact Kanyon Anderson at kanyonanderson@gmail.com or (360) 417-7228

Men’s Soccer

Men’s Soccer Head Coach Andrew Chapman

Head Coach Andrew Chapman took over a struggling Peninsula College program eleven years ago and built a soccer machine that has produced nine straight trips to the playoffs, six Final Four appearances, six West Division championships (2007, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013) and three NWAC championships (2010, 2012, 2013). Coach Chapman has been a named NWAC Coach of the Year three times and has earned the West Region Coach of the Year title five times. He received a Master’s of Science in Physical Education from Eastern Washington University and is a member of a select few coaches in America with a National ‘B’ License from the US Soccer Federation. In addition to coaching soccer at Peninsula, he is also a Faculty member in the Physical Education Department. For more information about Men’s Soccer contact Andrew Chapman at achapman@penccol.edu or (360) 417-6410.

Top Reasons to Play Soccer for Peninsula College

- Take advantage of excellent scholarship opportunities
- Play for a college that focuses on individual athletes and their needs
- Join teammates from all across the U.S. and around the world, including six continents and more than 18 countries.
- Celebrate the team’s accomplishments with live streaming video and excellent game coverage by local newspapers and radio stations.
- Play in front of the loudest, rowdiest fans in the NWAC.
- Be supported in your athletic and academic development by full-time coaches.
- Enjoy loads of fashionable practice and travel gear and ride in comfort in Peninsula’s coach bus (the “Black Pearl”)
- Play on one of the nicest fields in the Northwest – $1.5 million Wally Sigmar Athletic Complex.
- Give back to the community by coaching youth in our Peninsula Soccer Academy.
- Become a champion on and off the field.
- Continue to make history. Play for the only program to ever win back to back men’s and women’s NWAC Championships (2012 and 2013).

For more information about the Pirate Athletics Program, visit our website at www.gopcpirates.com

Peninsula College Women’s Soccer and Peninsula College Men’s Soccer

PIRATES MAKE HISTORY!

Celebrating Back to Back NWAC Championships for Men’s and Women’s Teams

The First Time Ever in NWAC History!